around the breakfast table, with an overbearing

these conflicts, we often don't know what to do about them.

“Jesus and the Adulterous Woman”
John 8:1-11
Speaking: Jeff Warren

Home Group Discussion & BIBLE STUDY for this week:

1. Isn't it interesting that the adulterous man isn't brought in with the woman? If she was caught in the act, he would've been too. Read Lev. 20:10 Do you think this was a clue to Jesus that this was a trap?
2. Put yourself in the place of the woman. How do you think she felt? Can you relate on some type of level with this woman at this point? Can you tell of a time when you felt exposed, alone, and in need of grace?
3. Who were some other women Jesus dealt with like this? Read John 4:4-29 How is His treatment of this woman similar?
4. In writing on the ground Jesus takes the attention off of her and puts it onto Him? Why is this important?
5. What is key in how Jesus reacts to this crowd (See verses 6,7) why do you think He seemingly ignored them before answering?
6. Have you ever been convicted to "drop your stone and walk away" when wanting to condemn someone else? How was that experience?
7. In this passage who do you identify the most with? The woman, the crowd, Jesus? All 3?
8. When Jesus first stoops down to write, He also puts Himself on her level and I like to imagine shields her from them. How is this a picture of why Jesus came to Earth?
